St. Andrew's United Church

Worship This Week- Sunday May 14 Theme: Living a life Caring for others Christian Family Sunday

This Sunday we celebrate Christian Family Sunday. This day holds great significance as it serves as a reminder of the importance and blessings of family life within the context of our Christian faith. We will explore the biblical foundations of family, the challenges we face in nurturing our families, and the role of the church in supporting and strengthening our Christian families. God's intention was for the family to be a place of love, unity, and spiritual growth. The family serves as a reflection of the divine relationship between Christ and the Church. Families today can take on many different forms. Often, on the second Sunday of May we celebrate Mother's Day, but this special time is more than just mothers, it also involves rising up and celebrating those in our lives that have cared for and nurtured us.

While the family is a beautiful gift from God, we cannot ignore the challenges that families encounter in today's world. The pressures of work, the distractions of technology, and the erosion of moral values all pose threats to the unity and well-being of our families.

As Christians, we have a responsibility to nurture and strengthen our families. The church plays a vital role in supporting and strengthening our Christian families. It is here that we find a community of believers who can provide encouragement, accountability, and guidance. The church should be a place where families can grow together in faith, where parents can find resources and support, and where children can experience the love and nurture of a larger spiritual family.

Christian Family Sunday provides us with an opportunity to celebrate the blessings of our families and renew our commitment to their well-being. Families that care for one another can have an outreaching effect of the world around us. Our world can be a better place when we place priority on showing care for one another.

Scripture Readings: John 14: 15-21, 1 Peter 3:8-21

Sermon: Showing Care to Others!

Thank you to Jean and the Sunday School School for decorating our bulletin board!

Scripture Summary

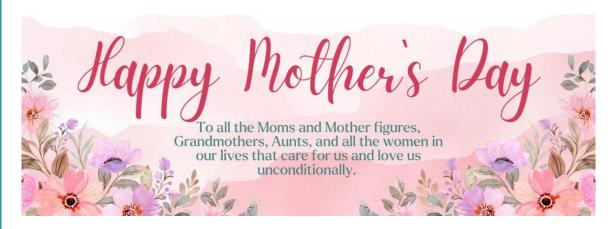

1 Peter 2:2-10

Finally, all of you, have unity of spirit, sympathy, love for one another, a tender heart, and a humble mind. Do not repay evil for evil or abuse for abuse; but, on the contrary, repay with a blessing.

Humour Corner

A pastor's wife was preparing pancakes for her young sons. The boys began to argue over who would get the first pancake. Their Mother saw the opportunity for a moral lesson. If Jesus were sitting here, He would say, "Let my brother have the first pancake. I can wait." The oldest boy turned to his younger brother and said, "You be Jesus."

Moving Forward Together: United Against Hate

Countering increasing violence and misinformation

On February 15, 2023, Mission & Service partners United in Learning, Affirming Connections, and Affirm United/S'Affirmer Ensemble collaborated to host a webinar called United against Hate.

There is an alarming increase in violence and misinformation targeted against transgender folks and drag artists. The United against Hate webinar provided context to allies who may not have known the depth of the challenges faced by the Two Spirit or LGBTQIA+ community and shared ideas on how best to support community events that regularly face protests and barriers. Panellists also offered insight into building a safe and educational social media presence, including managing challenging discussion topics.

The webinar was an overwhelming success, with the live limit of 100 participants reached. Those who could not attend were encouraged to watch the recording. Participants shared positive feedback and made action plans on how to move forward together.

Your gifts to Mission & Service help support future events that will enable Affirming communities of faith to truly live into that identity in practical and safe ways.

This week has been a time of transitions. My daughter Katie has been getting moved into a new house in St. Catherine's and began a new full-time job yesterday. Hard to believe she is growing up and moving out on her own.

For me, since I shared the news that I will be stepping down as your minister, people have reached out to me to share their congratulations and best wishes as I prepare to say goodbye to a congregation I have loved for the past 19 years. What I keep hearing is, "you have done so much here" or "we will miss you" or "it won't be the same without you". These are all normal statements offered whenever there is a transition. The reality is that yes, all those things are true, but remains the same is that the congregation will still be the same people who care and share with one another.

In my situation, I may be leaving St. Andrew's, but I am not retiring, but rather taking a break from ministry fulltime to pursue home renovation work. I will still be around town; you will see me; I am open to pulpit supply and the opportunities as they arise.

My first calling was to home renovation work which began when I was 8 years old and helping my father build a 2000 square foot addition to our family home. All through high school I worked for my church with rental properties they owned and needed maintaining. At the end of high school my father asked me if I wanted a job building houses with him. So, we bought a vacant building lot and built our first house together in 1987. We then went on to build three more homes for sale. After that, my dad and I continued to do reno work under the name Willbuilt Construction for a few years. During this time, I also attended community college full time and earned a degree in Construction engineering. After all this I set aside this vocation, attended university and pursued ministry for the past 27 years.

So now I am hearing God's call to return to the roots I had planted back then and have started up my new business called Willbuilt Home Inspection and Renovation Services. This revisiting the original business name begun 36 years ago. In the meantime, I also have earned a college diploma in Home Inspections and will look forward to pursuing this also. Feel free to like my Facebook page or follow me on Instagram. You can see some of the work I have done over many years.

Since the pandemic, there have been large changes in the world and around us. The church is not the same and we are not the same. As I move into another work calling to renovation work, I will still be following God's call in my heart. I will look forward to expanding my knowledge of the wider church, new church developments, and realigning myself with what God has planned for me.

After I leave St. Andrew's this summer, it will be a great opportunity for the congregation to seek a new pathway forward and be with God as you craft a new vision for the future. Only God knows what path the future will take, but as you journey on, I ask you to please take some time to discern with God what needs the congregation has and how you may best serve the people in Georgetown. This will be an exciting time ahead and I pray it will be life giving for you. In the meantime, please drop in to say hello, send an email or call me on the phone. I am happy to chat with you.

Next week, I will be away on a week of study. The worship service will be offered by Sue Whaley as a music Sunday. In the case of a pastoral emergency, Sue Cowan has offered to be available.

She can be reached at 905-873-3171.

Blessings, See you on Sunday. Grant
